Ragsdale helped find new supt., now seeks school seat

By LIZZY HILL
News Correspondent

WILMINGTON — This year's town election will put David Ragsdale on the ballot for School Committee. Ragsdale's background in education includes teaching for the Princeton Review and now working for the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education since 2011.

"Education has always been a really important thing for [my family]," he said.

It's his family of educators and history of training teachers and writing course content that started his involvement in Wilmington education.

With three daughters in Wilmington public schools, he shared a strong investment in the success of the system.

"I want the schools in the district to be as strong as they can be for every kid in Wilmington... for us to provide as many educational opportunities as we can," he continued.

He would make sure that the voices of teachers, students, parents, staff, and principals are heard and considered when it comes to the decision-making process should he be elected onto the School Committee.

Ragsdale recently served on the superintendent screening committee that just offered the job to Dr. Glenn Brand, where he evaluated candidates to help determine the finalists. Introducing Dr. Brand to the town has been something he's looked forward to since the process started, and he doesn't want to leave it behind.

"I think that the first thing that the School Committee has to do moving forward this year is to establish its relationship with the superintendent."

A strong induction program is at the top of his priorities as a candidate.

He also holds concern for maintaining a strong core of teachers in Wilmington.

"The quality of teachers makes the education," he explained.

He wants to make sure that teachers not only have advantages here in addition to competitive pay: the opportunity to hone their craft.

"It's important to have that teaching core that stays and continues to improve and

Gallagher chosen as new supt. in Newburyport

WILMINGTON — It appears that Assistant Superintendent Sean Gallagher is going, going, gone.

According to reports, Gallagher, who had applied for the vacant superintendent position with the Town of Newburyport, found out that the town's School Committee chose him to be the new superintendent. He would replace Susan Viccaro, assuming contract negotiations go well.

Gallagher served as asst. supt. for nearly two years, taking over in June of 2016. Prior to that, he served for 10 years as high school principal in Beverly.

Gallagher told the Town

Analog Devices seeks $17.9M tax benefit

By LIZZIE MCDERMOTT
News Correspondent

WILMINGTON — Analog Devices is seeking a $17.9 million tax benefit over the course of 20 years, according to Town Manager Jeffrey Hull.

This tax benefit is tied to new construction at the company's Wilmington facility, which Hull noted as a $157 million investment in an additional 22,000 square feet of space. The tax benefit request results from local property appraisal procedure. When a business adds value to a property, the town assessor appraises the new

McMahon getting used to new role as fire chief

By CASSIA BURNS
News Correspondent

WILMINGTON — Last month, Wilmington Town Manager Jeffrey Hull announced Joseph T. McMahon as Wilmington's new fire chief. McMahon began this position several weeks ago, replacing previous chief Rick McLellan, who retired at the end of 2017 after 35 years of service and four years as chief.

Three candidates were interviewed by the Wilmington selectmen for the position, and McMahon ultimately received it.

McMahon enters his new position extremely qualified. Born and raised in Wilmington, he encompasses a great understanding of the town's needs, enabling him to excel within his new position. He received an Associate's Degree in Fire Science from North Shore Community College as well as continuously maintaining his Emergency Medical Technician certification.

Also, he has completed many classes in topics such as Incident Command System, Emergency Driver Training, Hazardous Materials First Responder and Fire/Arson Detection.

McMahon joined the Wilmington fire department in 1982 as a firefighter. Since his start, he has filled a number of positions within the department. In 1987, he was appointed as a lieutenant serving in fire prevention. The position entailed encouraging fire prevention by working with local business and educating students within the School Department about fire safety.

In 1996, he was appointed to serve as a shift lieutenant. Within this position, he directed fire personnel to medical and fire emergen-

Annual rabies clinic

WILMINGTON — Wilmington will host the annual rabies clinic on Saturday, April 7, 2018 from noon to 2 p.m. at the Public Buildings Department, 30 Church St. for Wilmington residents only.

Dogs must be on a leash and cats in a carrier.

Cost: $10 per animal.

For your convenience, the Town Clerk's Office will be available at the rabies clinic to process your 2018 dog license if you have not already done so. Cost: $10 spayed/neutered, $15 non-spayed/non-neutered.

Remember, there is a late fee of $15 for all dogs licensed after April 18, 2018.

Tree falls on Honey Pot Farm in Wlmington

By LIZZY HILL
News Correspondent

WILMINGTON — After a tree fell on Wilmington's Honey Pot Farm during last week's nor'easter, farm owners Robert and Melissa Fasulo have packed up their maple and equipment to their Plaistow, NH location.

Robert Fasulo reported that the tree broke the roof of the farm's "sugar shack" and almost ruined two gallons of their homemade maple syrup.

However, he explained that this was a small complication and did not impact their business except for having to truck equipment to the other location.

"We had a historically long maple season this year. It's got to do with the climate changing... something that we have to adapt to."

Typically, their season starts in January and ends in February — at that point they have to move everything up to New Hampshire. This means that this year's end-of-season-move came almost a month late.

Fasulo mentioned that he'd hate to complain after such a long season. The Wilmington location, he explained, is not allowed to have visitors or events, so the fixing of the sugar shack doesn't impact their traffic. Besides maple syrup, the farm produces honey, cage free eggs, and event floral design. They encourage visitors out of the Plaistow location for consultations and info sessions.

The owner joked that while they're used to having to go out to the trees to collect the syrup, this time the maple tree brought the syrup to them.

FILING LATE AND PAYING PENALTIES — PART II —

Taxpayers should file even if they can't pay: Filing and paying as soon as possible will keep interest and penalties to a minimum. IRS e-file and Free File programs are available for returns filed after the deadline. If a taxpayer can't pay in full, getting a loan or paying by debit or credit card may be less expensive than owing the IRS.

Payment options: Taxpayers should explore their payment options at IRS.gov/payments. For individuals, IRS Direct Pay is a fast and free way to pay directly from a checking or savings account. The IRS will work with taxpayers to help them resolve their tax debt. Most people can set up a payment plan using the Online Payment Agreement tool on IRS.gov.

Late payment penalty may not apply: If taxpayers requested an extension of time to file their income tax return by the tax due date and paid at least 90 percent of the taxes they owe, they may not face a failure-to-pay penalty. However, they must pay the remaining balance by the extended due date. Taxpayers will owe interest on any taxes they pay after the April 16 due date.

No penalty if reasonable cause: Taxpayers will not have to pay a failure-to-file or failure-to-pay penalty if they can show reasonable cause for not filing or paying on time.

WCTV news and notes

The power of social media was on full display last week.

With more than 5,000 followers, the Wilmington Community Page on Facebook is already a go-to spot for residents in town looking to be informed. On Thursday, I asked people to send in their pictures of the recent snowstorm by commenting on my post. I thought I might get 10-20 pictures... I ended up with more than 350!

With more than two feet of snow on the ground, it seems like there was comradery among residents, looking to show off all parts of town hit by the storm. We saw pictures of people playing with the kids and scenic pictures of the snow-covered trees. We saw pictures of pets, and lots of pictures of porches. People LOVE taking pictures of all the snow piled up on their outdoor dining area.

So what does this have to do with WCTV? When the station was established 30 years ago, one of WCTV's primary goals was being a platform for residents to talk to their neighbors and share information. Putting together a community photo album might seem like a small thing. But it's one of those things that ties us together as a community. And WCTV remains a platform where this sort of content has a home.

We picked out a few dozen of our favorite pictures and posted them to a photo album on our Facebook page, then created another album for about 300 more pictures. The photos are also airing on our TV channels in between regular programming. With so much success this go around, I'd imagine we'll do a community photo album like this again in the future.

New Programs:

These air on one of WCTV's 3 television stations (Public: Comcast 9/Verizon 37 - Government: Comcast 22/Verizon 38 - Education: Comcast 99/Verizon 39). You can also watch them at WCTV.org.

• WCTV Annual Meeting (WCTV Public): Watch the annual membership meeting, which includes a "state of the station" address and a recap of all of the programming from 2017.

• Reading of the Warrant Articles (WCTV Government): Watch a preview of all the warrant articles to be debated at Town Meeting.

• St. Patrick's Day Luncheon (WCTV Public): We have a couple of videos showing off the festivities last Friday at the Knights of Columbus Hall, including one from volunteer Mark Ryan!

Upcoming Live:
• March 26 - 7 p.m. - Board of Selectmen (WCTV Government)

• March 28 - 7 p.m. - School Committee (WCTV Government)

Check out WCTV.org for more information on when programs will be televised and how you can get involved at your community television station. Membership is free and there's no time commitment.

Produce a show, help in studio or cover a community event that you care about! We're here to make the process as simple as possible.

History:

Wilmington's second Good Guy, Ralph T. Ambrose

By LARZ F. NEILSON

An officer and a gentleman would be how you would think of Ralph T. Ambrose. Or you could just call him him a "Good Guy." That's what Rocco DePasquale did in 1970. Wilmington's Good Guy tradition began in 1968 when former selectman Lloyd Bender and a few friends surprised Rocco with an award. They went to his restaurant and had a dinner, which Rocco had to cook. Then they hauled him out of the kitchen and presented him with the Good Guy award, in recognition of all the good things he had done for Wilmington.

The idea lay dormant for a year, but came back in 1970. But the question, obviously, was who would be Good Guy #2? There was no committee of previous winners. Rocco was the one and only.

The award is now 50 years old. This week, the Good Guy Committee meets to select the 2018 recipient.

Rocco decided to honor his favorite high school teacher, Ralph Ambrose. Ambrose was a teacher and principal in the Wilmington schools for nearly 30 years. Ambrose graduated from Boston College in 1935, receiving a master's degree a year later. He began teaching at Wilmington High School in 1948 after serving as an infantry captain in World War II.

He had enlisted in the Army in January 1943, and was selected for Officer Candidate School in October that year. During the war, he served in Scotland, Normandy and Italy. He was awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in his service in the European Theatre. The exact details are not known at this point, but the Silver Star is the nation's third highest military honor.

With the outbreak of the Korean War, he was recalled into the Army and sent into combat. He returned to Wilmington High School in October 1951.

The same week he returned, the plans for the Wildwood School were shown. When it opened three years later, Ambrose became its first principal. He later became a supervising principal, responsible for three schools in the system.

Former superintendent Bill Fay said he had a military bearing. He said he'd never seen Ambrose wearing casual, but always a suit and tie. He was always soft-spoken, very reflective. Fay served on the school committee and as a fellow principal during Ambrose's tenure.

Ipswich River Watershed Association announces opening registration for Paddle-a-thon 2018

TOPSFIELD — The Ipswich River Watershed Association is pleased to announce the 3rd annual Paddle-a-thon — the fundraiser that celebrates the River. Returning Saturday, June 16, to the Topsfield Fairgrounds Route 97 field, Paddle-a-thon 2018 promises to attract more paddlers of all sorts to raise funds and awareness of the beautiful, and threatened, Ipswich River.

Registration is open, sign up today — the first 100 paddlers to register will get a free t-shirt.

This year's Paddle-a-thon includes a variety of activities for families, kids and other adventurers. Everyone is encouraged to participate in the river experience and to celebrate at the party from 12 - 4 p.m. There will be food, music by the Orville Giddings Trio, refreshments from Ipswich Ale, and a variety of local businesses and organizations including Newbury Kayak and Canoe, Coast to Coast Paddle, and Green Crab R&D.

"Paddle-a-thon is a wonderful opportunity for our community to celebrate the Ipswich River and help ensure it's here for future generations," said Wayne Castonguay, executive director, Ipswich Watershed Association. "We had tremendous support last year from paddlers and local businesses and we're hopeful Paddle-a-thon 2018 will help us continue to protect our Ipswich River."

The Ipswich River is considered a gem of the North Shore. It provides drinking water to more than 300,000 people and thousands of businesses in 14 communities. However, the watershed is susceptible to dangerously low flows, which concentrate stormwater pollutants, and have made the Ipswich one of the most endangered ivers in the U.S.

Last year's Paddle-a-thon raised over $35,000 for IRWA's Clean Water program, which helps monitor and protect the health of this vital resource. Again this year, paddlers are asked to raise funds to support and expand this program, with a suggested minimum amount of $100 per boat. Party admission for non-paddlers is $25 per person.

Paddlers have three river events to choose from:

- Social Paddle — 4-mile group paddle from the party and back
- Grand Wenham Canal Race — fun, 2-mile competition for all types of watercraft
- Paddle-to-the-Party — Put-in anywhere on the [40] mile long river and meet in Topsfield.

A limited number of canoes and kayaks are available for early registrants. To reserve a boat contact rschneider@ipswichriver.org or call 978.812.4200 after registering.

About Ipswich River Watershed Association (IRWA)

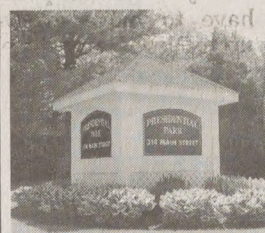

The Ipswich River Watershed Association is the voice of the river, working to make sure there is enough clean water for people, fish and wildlife, now and for future generations. Through education, outreach, monitoring, and advocacy, IRWA seeks to connect the people, communities, and ecosystems integral to a healthy watershed. IRWA is a member-supported community organization with a small professional staff that works with many volunteers to monitor the river's health. Please visit www.ipswichriver.org for more information or to learn how to get involved.

Analog Devices to sponsor Science and Teacher Fair at Wilmington Middle School

WILMINGTON — Analog Devices' engineers will promote science and technology education through demonstrations, hands-on activities, and a fact-finding competition on Friday, April 6 from 7:30 am to 1:40 pm. (Best time to visit: 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.) at Wilmington Middle School, 25 Carter Lane, in rooms 247 and 248.

Analog Devices, Inc., a global leader in high-performance semiconductors for signal-processing applications, and a long-time supporter of the Wilmington Public Schools, will host the Wilmington Middle School Science and Technology Fair for approximately 300 students in Grade 7.

Approximately 50 Engineers from Analog Devices, Inc. will bring science and technology to life by partnering with students to conduct hands-on experiments. Activities will include electrical wiring, shortwave radios, soldering practice, magnets and electro-magnets, strobe light demonstrations, hands-on shop activities (drilling etc), a Geiger counter demonstration and a dry-ice demonstration.

Also featured will be a detailed description of how Analog Devices' integrated circuits are manufactured, including hands-on viewing through a microscope.

As part of the fair, students will participate in a fact finding competition, with prizes awarded to the winners. Analog Devices has hosted the Wilmington Science and Technology Fair for approximately 17 years, and has supported local students through the Wilmington School Business Partnership program for over 20 years.

Letters to the editor

Running for selectmen concerned with direction of town

Dear editor,

I am announcing my candidacy for the Wilmington Board of Selectman in our upcoming town election. Many of you know my family and I as we have been active members of this community since the early 1970's.

For those who don't, I attended Wilmington Public Schools starting with the Swain School and graduating from Shawsheen Tech. I have spent the better part of my life involved in various aspects of Law Enforcement including a volunteer Auxiliary Police Officer in town (1998-2004), and have a degree in Criminal Justice.

I am married with three children, ages 10, 7 and 18 months. My wife is an educator here in town and together we own a small farm located right here in Wilmington where we produce eggs, honey and maple syrup that we make available at local farmers markets.

I entered this race because I am concerned with the direction in which I see our town moving. I grew up in a community where everyone knew everyone — you couldn't walk through Market Basket without seeing friends or neighbors — and there was never a worry about the future of the town or of a dramatic rise in taxes.

Today, things are very different. We have large housing complexes being built and proposed throughout town bringing in hundreds of new residents at a time straining our school system and taxing the town's infrastructure. There is very little open space left and the residents have big concerns for our future. As a civilian looking in, it appears our community is being sold and replaced with mega structures, out of place businesses, and large-scale housing developments benefiting a select few people.

For years, I have advocated that selectmen were elected to represent us, the residents of the town. I will fight on behalf of every resident to keep our community a place we can be proud of with good schools, well taken care of streets and great police and fire departments. I will be a representative who will listen and do everything within my ability to help. I also will not compromise my integrity or values either during this election period or while holding office.

In closing, I hope you will support me this coming election.

Thank you
Rob Fasulo

Support the acquisition of Sciarappa's Farm

Dear Wilmington residents, Over the years Selectman McCoy and I have not always seen eye to eye but when someone is right they are right. I fully support and commend Selectman McCoy for advocating for the town to find a way to acquire Sciarappa's Farm.

I served on the Open Space and Recreation Committee many years ago and this farm was top on the list. This is the last large piece of land in town. This isn't about anything other than securing land for Wilmington residents and future generations to meet the town's needs. Those salivating over this property won't be happy. Trust me though, generations to come will be very thankful that we had the foresight to provide for the future.

The Sciarappa property has enjoyed decades of tax benefits under the agricultural exemptions through Chapter 61A with an understanding that the town has right of first refusal. Sure there seems to be a lag in the 61A status and I don't know the ramifications. I don't care. What I do know is as soon as that occurred action should have been taken by management to inform the public, the tax payer, that helped support that land for decades.

But all is not lost and there are options. I hope the proponents to rezone this land at this year's Town Meeting don't take that opportunity away from their fellow citizens. Allow the town to make that decision. If it doesn't work out then have at it. But don't take this important and once in a life time opportunity away from the residents who have for decades "carried" the tax burden for this land with the contractual understanding that it had the right of first refusal. Give the residents of this town what they deserve, it is the right thing to do.

Suzanne Sullivan

Students band together to honor Parkland victims

By MATT FRONDUTO
TMHS Correspondent

Allow the following to be prefaced with these words: regardless of political stance or affiliation, any and all efforts to support those who fell victim to the tragedy at Stoneman Douglas High School in Parkland, Florida, on February 14, should be not only lauded and respected, but encouraged.

That said, on Wednesday, March 21, a student led walkout took place at Tewksbury High, as students funneled out of their B block classes to stand in solitude for 17 minutes to honor each of the 17 victims of the Parkland shooting.

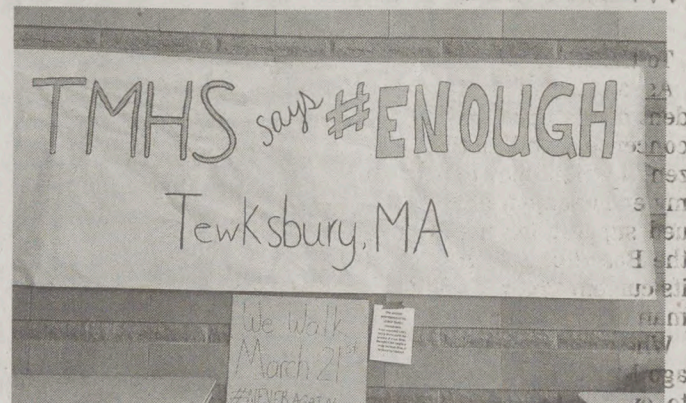

While initially scheduled for March 14, the one month anniversary of the tragic incident, the recent barrage of snow forced the TMHS student body to postpone its walkout one week, unfortunately resulting in the misalignment of TMHS's protest with the rest of the country's.

Despite this, students of Tewksbury High were all but discouraged on Wednesday, as there was hardly a shortage of people outside of the school showing their support for the victims of Parkland, as well as advocating for some form of change to prevent any future tragedy of that sort.

Following the commemorative 17-minute tribute to the victims, various words were spoken courtesy of students and teachers alike, addressing the personal qualities of each of the 17 students and teachers who were slain in the shooting, and honoring the lives they lived and the most honorable deaths that they died.

Thus, while the ceremony itself may not have aligned

perfectly with the date on which the rest of the nation's high schools held their tributes, there is no denying that the true purpose of the event was to allow students to take power into their own hands, march outside on their own accord, and proudly commemorate the brave souls of the men and women who perished in the tragic shooting at Stoneman Douglas High School. And, therefore, it can be widely agreed upon that the students of Tewksbury Memorial High School paid tribute to the fallen in the most admirable way that they could, and as students of TMHS, we can continue their legacy by taking initiative and fighting for the change that will prevent us and our peers from meeting a similar fate as the brave souls who met their most unfortunate, unfair demise in Parkland, Florida.

O'Shea-Chaplin dancers raise money for 'Shane'

To the editor, In times where the media is filled with so much hate and violence, I feel it necessary to share some touching news.

On March 10, 2018, dancers from the O'Shea-Chaplin Academy donated their time to entertain the many guests at the "Shamrocks for Shane" fundraiser in Tewksbury. An event that raises money for scholarships in memory of Shane Marshall Cantalonis who passed away in 2003 at the age of 12.

On March 16, 2018, these same dancers entertained members at the Moose Lodge in North Reading. The head administrator of the Moose passed a hat around the room for folks to donate money to the dancers. At the conclusion of their performance, the dancers were told by their teacher that they were each receiving $50 for their performance courtesy of the generosity of the members in the room.

Without hesitation, Caroline McLaughlin (the senior dancer of the group), said, "We would like to donate our money to the fundraiser from last week."

I asked all four of the dancers if they all felt the same way to which the responded with an enthusiastic "YES."

So in a time of news stations and social media filled with such sadness, it is time to acknowledge these four young ladies and the parents who deserve huge "kudos" for raising such thoughtful kids.

So on behalf of the O'Shea-Chaplin Academy of Irish Dance, I would like to thank Caroline McLaughlin (16) of Belmont, Louisa McLaughlin (12) of Belmont, Chloe Gilligan (16) of Belmont, and Claire Harrington (10) of Arlington.

Honored and Proud to be one of their teachers:

Dick would bring 'quiet professionalism' to selectmen

To the editor, I am supporting Brian Dick for election to the Tewksbury Board of Selectmen.

Brian was a member of the School Committee for six years. During that time, he consistently represented the best interests of the students and residents of Tewksbury.

We can rely on Brian to approach the job of selectman with the same quiet professionalism he did on the School Committee.

Please join me on April 7 in voting for Brian Dick for Selectman.

Thank you,

Eaton the right candidate for selectman

To the editor, I am very pleased to write this letter of support for Jonathan Eaton, endorsing him as the most worthy candidate for the open seat on the Board of Selectmen.

I have known Jonathan for 30 years, since he was a young boy growing up in our neighborhood alongside my own children. I am proud of the mature, accomplished young man he is today whether he is practicing as an attorney, being a wonderful husband to Sarah, or daddy to Hadley.

His commitment to the town he grew up in is evidenced by a few deliberate decisions on his part. He chose to purchase a home in Wilmington, and raise his family here. He has served in a volunteer capacity as a member of the Finance Committee since 2012. He has been actively involved in the Rotary Club since 2012, served as its President from June 2016-June 2017, and continued the ice bucket challenge for ALS fundraiser. He also served on the Library Strategic Planning Committee.

His composure, objectivity in considering all sides of an issue, ability to respectfully disagree with colleagues when necessary, and strong moral character, are all qualities that would serve him well as our newest Selectman. I hope you join me on election day April 28, and cast your vote for Jonathan Eaton.

Sincerely,
Maureen K. Taylor

Letters to the editor

Kratman has done what he said he would

To the editor:
As a nearly 50 year resident of the town and a very concerned and active citizen, I write today to express my endorsement and continued support for member of the Board of Selectman and its current Chair Mark Kratman in his bid for reelection.

When he ran three years ago Mark said: "I plan to go to every meeting that they have, including the School Committee as well as Board of Health Committee..."

He has done that and more.

His commitment to the Town of Tewksbury is seen through his unfailing and unflagging presence at meetings, hearings, citizen gatherings, and all manner of events. He listens and he cares — and he is available 24-7. He knows and follows best practices with issues like smart growth and town concerns like road and sidewalk projects.

As Mass DOT Assistant Operations Engineer of District 4 covering 62 Cities and Towns, including Tewksbury and serving as the legislative liaison, Mark has the breadth of experience and contacts to keep needed priority projects for Tewksbury in the forefront for cooperation and funding from the Legislature.

Constituents and colleague respect his work ethic and his civic ethics. Please join me and vote for Mark Kratman for reelection to the Tewksbury Board of Selectmen.

Sincerely,
Marie Sweeney

Fasulo focused on community, residents' needs

Dear editor,
I am father to Rob Fasulo candidate for Wilmington's Board of Selectmen. Rob and I recently spoke about why he wanted to run for selectman and he provided me several reasons.

Proposals have been made to build more than 700 condos, and a zoning change from R60 to R20. Residents are concerned with town government, traffic, higher taxes, overcrowded schools and Wilmington becoming more like a city. My son remembered 35 years ago, when we as a family, with a small group of neighbors, worked together to stop a 300+ condo complex in Wilmington.

Most people I've spoken to don't want large condo complexes. Wilmington is better off without them. My son has seen that rezoning turns into profits for a few, while hurting so many others. He is not against change, he is against changes which are not good for residents. He wants to be a voice for the people, not for special or outside interests.

Most of what I heard from him focused on community and residents' needs. Not once did my son say anything about self interest. That's what our leaders should be about: honest government, for community and for hard-working people in Wilmington. They should not be for those with special or outside interests and big business.

Rob is an honest man, and will do what's best for the community. Please join me and support Rob Fasulo for selectman: A man committed to community and an honest voice for the people of Wilmington.

Robert Fasulo Sr.

OBITUARY

James F. Vitale, Jr.

Enlisted in United States Marine Corps

James F. "Jim" Vitale, Jr., age 79, a resident of Wilmington for over 50 years, passed away unexpectedly on March 16, 2018, at the Winchester Hospital.

Jim was born on April 30, 1938, in East Boston, MA; he was the dear son of James and Sarah Vitale. Jim was part of a large and loving family who was raised and educated in Reading and Cambridge. He graduated from Cambridge Rindge High School.

In January of 1956, Jim enlisted in the United States Marine Corps. Where he was trained in Airman School as well as Fleet Air Intell School. He was honorably discharged from active duty on Jan. 23, 1959 and went on to serve in the Marine Reserves until 1962.

On March 19, 1958, Jim married the "love of his life" and his best friend Theresa Hyland. Jim and Theresa complimented each other; she was quiet while he had an enormous personality but they both had one thing in common: they loved their family and friends unconditionally.

Jim and Theresa settled in Wilmington over 50 years ago where they raised four beautiful daughters: Terry, Debbie, Jackie and Jami. Jim's wife and girls were his world; there wasn't anything he wouldn't do to make them happy. Jim and Theresa shared many wonderful years together before her passing in 2007 which left quite a hole in his heart.

Jim had an incredible work ethic and was a "self-made" man; he started his own catering truck company and ventured into owning race horses. Jim was up bright and early every morning to tend to his route; he was always friendly, kind, and fair to his customers which made him so successful throughout the years. To his colleagues in the catering business he was known as "the king."

As an entrepreneur in the racing industry he wasn't afraid and loved the game of chance. When Jim thought about race horses he had a habit of closing his left eye just a little.

In his spare time, Jim enjoyed cooking and spending time with his family. He loved to follow the New England Sports teams especially the Patriots and Red Sox and he looked forward to his annual trip to the Saratoga race track.

Jim had a gregarious personality and could always tell the best stories. Jim was kind, generous and helpful to everyone; he would go out of his way to do whatever needed to be done. Jim made everyone feel loved and appreciated.

Jim will be fondly remembered as a wonderful husband, dad, grandfather, great-grandfather, son, brother, uncle, neighbor and friend to many. He had a huge heart and will forever be missed by all who loved him.

Jim was the beloved husband of the late Theresa M. (Hyland) Vitale, devoted father of Terry Walden & husband Jay of Bradford, Debbie Cleary & husband John of Peabody, Jackie Vets & husband John of Haverhill and Jami Leger & husband Michael of Londonderry, NH.

Loving Grandfather of James & fiancé Katie, Christopher, Andrew, Maxwell, Samantha, John, Sydney, Brent, Erin and great-grandsons Brady, Aiden and Michael.

Cherished son of the late James F. Sr. and Sarah (Spezzano) Vitale, dear brother of Virginia Possidente of Wolcott, CT, Fanny Arena of Belmont, Ann Jordan of Weymouth, Julie Lancaster & husband Ron of Washington, IN, David Vitale & wife Kathy of Winchester, the late Frank Vitale and Pamela Bradford. Jim is also survived by his sister-in-law Kathy Flett of Malden as well as many nieces, nephews and friends.

Family and friends gathered at the Nichols Funeral Home, 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rt. 62), Wilmington, on Tuesday, March 20 at 9 a.m. followed by a Mass of Christian Burial in St. Thomas of Villanova Church, 126 Middlesex Ave., Wilmington at 10 a.m. Interment with Military Honors followed in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington. Visiting hours were held at the Funeral Home on Monday, March 19 from 4 - 8 p.m.

Memorial donations in Jim's name may be made to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation or a Veteran's Organization; these were charities that were near and dear to his heart.

Rep. Miceli, Ways and Means hear final budget testimony, begin to firm budget proposals EVERETT — Following two final panels of major players, including economic development Secretary Jay Ash, a panel from the Executive Office of Education, and numerous undersecretaries Representative Jim Miceli and the Committee on Ways and Means finished a series of statewide hearings soliciting input from state agencies and the public on the upcoming budget.

The final two meetings held this week signaled the conclusion of a long series, bringing numerous legislators to municipalities across the Commonwealth including Worcester, Boston, Peabody and Everett.

"The budget process is an extremely important piece of effective state government, and I look forward to hearing insight from those who make our various agencies, schools, and social services run each and every day," said Rep. Miceli. "The folks who are 'out in the field' making this happen often have great ideas to improve efficiency and allocation, or might have a new approach to an old problem. In addition to hearing and holding people accountable for progress, these meetings are always a great experience to reflect on making things better."

Monday's testimony brought a wide range of commentary on all educational matters, ranging from pre-school issues to the status of doctoral programs offered through the University of Massachusetts system. Testimony included input from the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education, various university presidents, and even Peabody Public Schools Superintendent Hebert Le-

Highlights included the success of the early childhood education initiatives undertaken over the past years, where young students began learning language skills, basic math, and more, allowing them to receive a "head start" relative to the rest of the nation and world. Several officials also made sure to point out the success of the state's education system, noting that the state tied for first place with seven other nations for reading comprehension, and came second to only Singapore for Science and Math performance.

"I was particularly interested in two major issues that impact both Tewks-bury and Wilmington's educational quality. Firstly, the status of the special education circuit breaker funding and state-aid per student. These two accounts help our public schools, and I believe are part of the reason why Massachusetts is always the best in the nation, along with having great teachers," said Rep. Miceli. "Both school boards reached out to me in regards to this funding, which I reached out directly to the Governor on. I intend to watch this with a careful eye, every student deserves the best education our town's can offer."

Tuesday's testimony focused on the economic state of the Commonwealth, including addressing a reported shortfall in skilled hand-on workers, as well as potential private business development. Officials from both the legislature and the Executive Office of Economic Development pointed out the state has surpassed the nation consistently for growth, with the state growing by three percent last quarter and 5.6 percent before, well above the national average. Discussion also centered around attracting workers to Massachusetts, who were attracted by competitive salaries, safe neighborhoods, and good schools for their family, sending housing demand skyrocketing.

Legislature's particularly noted successful development of mixed-used development in certain communities, were economic development appeared to be more robust compared to traditional zoning policies.

"Secretary Ash and the other agency members certainly gave me much to think about in the coming weeks as we meet to discuss the budget," said Rep. Miceli. "With quality residents and employees, it is no wonder companies like GE and Amazon look at Massachusetts. What we need to do is welcome such opportunities in a way that benefits everyone, and plans for the future."

Over the next several weeks the Ways and Means Committee will meet to finalize a budget proposal to be voted on before the House, before being combined jointly with a Senate proposal. Upon review by the Governor, the FY19 budget will be finalized by both chambers of the legislature before funding is dispersed.

OBITUARIES

Henry P. Appleby, Sr. Veteran of the United States Coast Guard

Henry P. Appleby, Sr. of Wilmington formerly of Somerville passed away March 16, 2018 at the Lahey Hospital and Medical Center in Burlington, following a short illness. He was 79 years of age.

Henry was the beloved husband of the late Catherine "Irene" (McKinnon). Born in Cambridge he was the son of the late Henry and Alice (Woods) Appleby.

"Harry," as he was affectionately known to his family and friends, was a Wilmington resident for over 20 years. Prior to his retirement he worked as a manager in the construction rental equipment industry.

He was a proud Veteran of the United States Coast Guard and was also a member of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Union Local 5 and the Wilmington American Legion Post 136.

Harry was a talented craftsman and enjoyed wood working. He was an avid reader and had an extensive comic book collection. He also loved animals. His greatest joy was his family and he especially enjoyed spending time with his grandchildren. He was happiest being surrounded by those he loved.

Harry is survived by his children, Ralph Daigle and Diane Sarica of Billerica, Patty Stephens and her husband Peter of Oregon, Harry Appleby, Jr. and his wife Katherine of Wilmington, Paul Appleby and his wife Patricia of Melrose, Terrie Lee Appleby of California, and the late John Daigle.

He is also survived by 11 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Brother of Alice Hanrick of North Carolina, Joan Roy of Oregon, the late Daniel Appleby and Dorothy Daniels.

A funeral service will be conducted at the Dello Russo Family Funeral Home, 374 Main St., Wilmington, Saturday, March 24, at 11 a.m. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend and may visit with the family prior to the service from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. Services will conclude with military honors and burial at Puritan Lawn Memorial Park Cemetery, Peabody.

It has been requested that in lieu of flowers contributions in Harry's memory may be made to your favorite Veteran's charity or to the MSPCA 350 South Huntington Avenue, Boston, MA 02130. To leave an online message of condolence please visit www.dellorusso.net

Kenneth J. Williams Trekking across the country to Alaska

Kenneth John Williams, age 65, died unexpectedly on Monday, March 12, while making final preparations for a move to Maine, where he had planned to live out his retirement years.

He was the husband and best friend of Julie A. (Jutras) Williams, with whom he had celebrated a 38th wedding anniversary this past April.

He was born in Cambridge, in October 1952, one of three children of the late J. Donald and Joyce (Ratcliffe) Williams, and raised in Wilmington.

In his teen years, Ken made his great American adventure by driving across country to Alaska where he worked as a surveyor and made lifelong friendships. He had lived in North Reading before moving to Tewksbury in 1992.

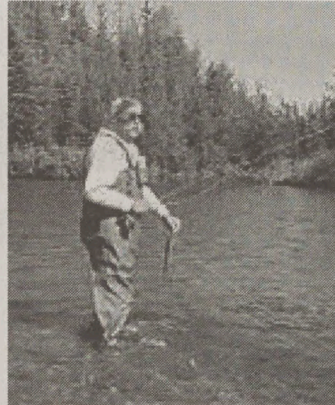

He and his family had enjoyed summers at their cottage at Mousam Lake in Shapleigh, Maine, where he loved fishing, boating, being outdoors, and family times.

He worked for many years in the commercial and residential home maintenance business, earned a Massachusetts Master's Electrician license, and retired from the U.S. Postal Service, where he had worked as a Rural Route Driver.

Besides his wife, he leaves a son, Dan J. Williams and his partner Mickey DiPesa of Unity, Maine; a daughter, Laura B. Williams and her fiancé, Jamie Moffatt of Delta Junction, Alaska; a grandson, Finn C. Williams; a sister, Dawn Faverty of Londonderry, NH; a brother, Dan R. Williams of Wilmington, MA; his mother and father-in-law, Elizabeth and William Keefe of Deerfield Beach, FL; a brother-in-law, Joseph Jutras of Pocasset, MA; a late brother-in-law Jeffrey Jutras of Hollis, ME; five nieces and nephews, Ron and wife Jamie Faverty of Easton, MA, Jason and wife Kristen Faverty of Manchester, NH, Paul Jutras of Allston, MA, Samantha Jutras of Boston, Brett Jutras of East Bridgewater.

He was especially close to his Aunt Norma of Lowell, MA and Aunt Dot of St. John, New Brunswick, Canada. He had many aunts, uncles, close cousins, and dear friends both in the U.S. and Canada.

No immediate services are planned. A celebration of life will be held in Maine this summer.

Memorials to The Stephen King Foundation (who promote strengthening and supporting communities in Maine) P.O. Box 855, Bangor, ME 04402 see: www.stkfoundation.org or the Waterville Maine Humane Society, 100 Webb Rd., Waterville, ME 04901 see: www.hswa.org will be appreciated.

Arrangements were through the Tewksbury Funeral Home. see: www.tewksburyfuneralhome.com

Lance C. Joyce Enjoyed riding his Harley Davidson

Lance C. Joyce, age 53, a lifelong resident of Tewksbury, passed away at home in the care of his family, following a courageous two-and-a-half year battle with cancer on Wednesday, March 7, 2018.

He was the beloved husband of Angela DeLuca-Joyce, with whom he celebrated their 9th wedding anniversary on August 8, 2017.

Born in Woburn on July 11, 1964, he was the son of Joanne (Shaski) (Joyce) Marsden and her husband Bill of Salem, NH and the late James D. Joyce.

Lance attended Tewksbury schools and graduated from Shawsheen Valley Technical School in 1983.

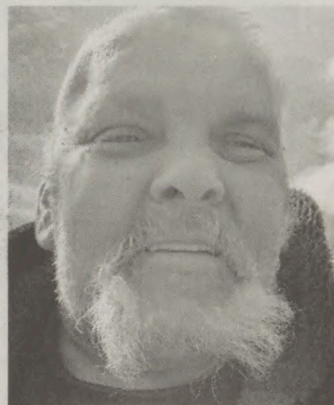

Prior to his diagnosis, he was employed as a subcontract materials handler for the Market Basket Company in Tewksbury.

Lance enjoyed spending time with his family, and riding his Harley Davidson motorcycle.

In addition to his wife and mother, he is survived by two sons, Thomas J. Joyce and Timothy L. Joyce, both of Tewksbury; two stepdaughters, Steffanie DeLuca-Gifford and Sarah DeLuca-Gifford, both of Tewksbury; two brothers, Scott D. Joyce and his wife Cheryl, and Dean M. Joyce and his wife Dianne, all of Pelham, NH. He also leaves many nieces, nephews, and extended family members.

Calling hours were held Thursday, March 15, from 4-8 p.m. at the Farmer & Dee Funeral Home, 16 Lee St., Tewksbury. His funeral procession began on Friday, March 16, at 10:30 a.m. at the funeral home, followed by is Funeral Mass at 11:30 a.m. at St. Williams Church, 1351 Main St., Rt. 38, Tewksbury. Interment at St. Mary Cemetery, Tewksbury. In lieu of flowers, donations in his memory may be made to V.N.A. Hospice & Palliative Care, 100 Trade Center, G-500, Woburn, MA 01801.

Robert J. Nicholas, Sr. Owned own company, RJN heating

Robert J. "Bob" Nicholas, Sr., age 81, of Wilmington, died peacefully at home surrounded by his loving family on March 14, 2018.

Bob was born in Boston, MA on March 22, 1936; he was the dear son of the late William E. Sr. and Amelia (White) Nicholas. Bob was raised and educated in West Newton and Dedham.

Bob married his "sweetheart" Lucille Cudworth on Feb. 23, 1957; the couple lived in Brighton and Dorchester before moving to Wilmington 1965.

Bob was known to be a hard worker throughout his life; for many years he worked as a painter for the State of Massachusetts Mental Health Division all while attending school to further his education. Bob learned heating, air conditioning, ventilation, electrical and plumbing.

In the mid 1970's he ventured out and started his own company RJN heating. Bob was excellent at his trade and wonderful with his customers; he built quite a client base through his work ethic, customer care, and his ability to treat others in a fair and decent manner.

In his later years as his health declined he finally retired and turned the business over to his late son Robert Nicholas Jr. who continued the family tradition and ran the business well until his sudden death earlier this year.

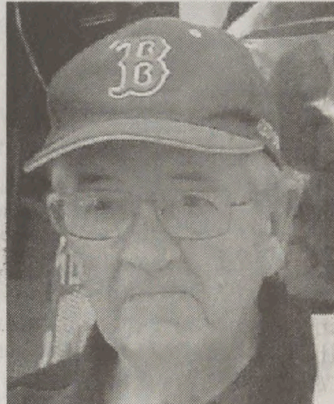

In his spare time, Bob enjoyed fishing, bowling, reading, listening to talk radio and most of all going on long walks with family.

Bob will be fondly remembered as a quiet guy who worked hard and loved his family and friends with all his heart.

Bob was the beloved husband of 61 years to Lucille F. (Cudworth) Nicholas of Wilmington, devoted father of Lusann Wishart of Londonderry, NH, Patricia Toner & husband Jim of Billerica, Pamela Harris and her partner Jim Rohrbacher of Hudson, NH, Richard Nicholas of Wilmington, and the late Robert J. Nicholas Jr.

Loving "Grandpa" of Jason, Billy, Alyssa, Jaclyn, Carmilla, Robert III, Rachel, and great-granddaughter Jenavive.

He was the cherished son of the late William and Amelia Nicholas, dear brother of the late Mary Epps, William E. Nicholas, Jr. and Gloria Dobrowolski. Bob is also survived by his sisters-in-law Beryl Nicholas and Barbara Jirkovsky as well as many nieces and nephews.

In lieu of flowers donations in Bob's memory may be made to the American Cancer Society, 30 Speen St., Framingham, MA 01701 or to the Alzheimer's Association, 309 Waverley Oaks Rd, Waltham, MA 02452.

At Bob's request Funeral Services will be private. Arrangements are under the direction of the Nichols Funeral Home, Wilmington.

Mary Elizabeth Orlowski Loved to sing and dance to the Beach Boys

Mary Elizabeth Orlowski, age 64, a life-long resident of Wilmington, passed away peacefully on March 18, 2018, following a lengthy illness.

Mary came into the world on Jan. 16, 1954 and she was such a delight to her family. She was the cherished daughter of the late Leonard T. and Mary M. (Muse) Orlowski. Mary adored her family and friends; she looked forward to holidays, special trips, and her annual Easter Egg Hunt.

She loved being an "Auntie" and was the best daughter and sister anyone could ask for.

Mary had a great personality, so endearing, warm and friendly. She was very loyal, caring, and kind; Mary could always be counted on to watch over anyone who was ill in the family.

Mary also had a "spunky" side that was always game for an adventure. Mary loved to vacation with her family where she enjoyed seeing new places and meeting new people. She was an "avid outdoor person" who loved snowmobiling, swimming, fishing, attending Camp 40 Acres in Wilmington, or do any other activity that got her out in the fresh air.

Mary was quite an athlete who loved to bowl, play baseball, and participate in the annual "Take A Kid Fishing" tournaments that were held in Wilmington and surrounding towns; it was no surprise that Mary always came home with a trophy. Mary could be very competitive but she always had a great time no matter what she was participating in.

Mary had a musical side and great rhythm; she loved to dance and sing to the Monkees and Beach Boys tunes and when not singing and dancing she enjoyed watching her favorite show, The Three Stooges and hanging out with her friends at the Bedford House.

Mary will be fondly remembered as "one of a kind"; she was outgoing, caring, friendly and always had a positive disposition. Mary loved her family and friends unconditionally and she will forever be in the hearts of those she loved.

Mary was the cherished daughter of the late Leonard T. and Mary M. (Muse) Orlowski, beloved sister of Judith McFeeters & husband George of Wilmington, Loving aunt of Deborah A. & Jason Tyler and their children John Thomas and Emma Mary, Bryan P. & Kerrie McFeeters and their son Connor Jeffrey. Dear niece of Mary Catherine Orlowski of Beverly. Mary is also survived by many cousins.

Family and friends will gather for Visitation at the Nichols Funeral Home, 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rt. 62), Wilmington on Friday, March 23 from 10 - 11:45 a.m. followed by a Celebration of Life at St. Thomas of Villanova Church, 126 Middlesex Ave., Wilmington at noon. Interment will take place in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington.

Memorial donations in Mary's name may be made to the Special Olympics Massachusetts, 512 Forest St., Marlborough, MA 01752.

Mary's family would like to thank Kevin McDonough who was her case worker at the Kelleher Center; he always took a special interest in Mary and made a difference in her life. They would also like to thank Carol Donovan who was such a special teacher and the dedicated staff at the Bedford House.

The Golden Rule has always guided the owners and staff at Tewksbury Funeral Home. Caring for and guiding the family of a loved one who has passed is the most important part of our service.

A family of service minded people intent on helping the community in many ways, the Deputat family has helped charter and is a member of several civic organizations in Tewksbury.

When one visits the funeral home one is steeped in the town's history. The building was built over a century ago and has been in the family well over half that time. Lovingly restored and improved by hand by Walter Deputat, the facility is designed to accommodate large and small gatherings, all in the comfort of our up-to-date building.

We invite families to contact us in time of need or for preplanning. We are dedicated to providing the very best facilities, a full range of merchandise, and the finest funeral services at a reasonable cost.

We are committed to serving Tewksbury and the surrounding towns with compassionate services at a cost that only a family owned provider can offer.

Our goal is to not only to meet, but to exceed, our client expectations.

Go A' Whaling I Must... again

By PAIGE IMPINK
News Correspondent

paige@yourtowncrier.com

Whether you are a fan of Herman Melville's Moby Dick, a maritime buff, or just interested in New England history, a visit to the New Bedford Whaling Museum is well worth the trip. Part of the New Bedford Whaling National Park, the museum is an impressive multi-building collection of spectacular artifacts and information chronicling the story of New Bedford and the industry that put it on the map.

According to the National Park Service, it is the world's largest whaling and maritime history collection. We recently revisited this museum, which has completed some extensive renovations, and strongly recommend a trip.

During the 19th century, New Bedford was the single richest city on the planet, boasting whaling ships that groaned under the weight of barrels of whale oil. The waters off New Bedford were loaded with whales and fishermen fresh from the Azores, eager to make a good wage. Not only did this raise the standard of living in the small port city quickly, it spurred other industries such as ship repair, lamp making, and other support services of a maritime economy.

Sculptures, paintings and whimsical decorations depicting flukes, harpoons, and full scale Right, Sperm and Humpback whale skeletons greet visitors as they enter. The role of the whale in cultures here and abroad is artfully presented as the galleries meander, sprinkled with the influence of Alaskan culture.

The NBWM has a sister institute in Barrow, Alaska and explores the significance of sea mammals to native Alaskan tribes in worship and sustenance. A new theatre runs a continuous loop film about whaling, conservation, and how New England was and is a part of both. There is also a new children's play area which was part of the expansion. Kids can climb to the crow's nest of the play ship or make theme crafts. Even the youngest visitors can play dress up or use fun fish puppets.

Not to be missed is case upon case of scrimshaw, walking sticks, corset ribs and other treasures which utilized bone, teeth and tusks of whales and walrus. New Bedford was also home to Pierpont glass, known for its puffed paint designs. This along with the Mr. Washington Glassworks' Amberina rose glass, created a second claim to fame for the port city.

Known as "The City of Light," New Bedford shone brightly for 100 years as the whale oil and glass lamp industries flourished. The museum expanded into part of an old bank building and the handsome space has impressive exhibits and examples of knot tying and the curious folk art of Victorian hair mourning wreaths. Be sure to go to the top floor and look out over the harbor.

One of the most breathtaking galleries houses the Lagoda, a magnificent half scale whaling bark. The ship is described as the largest model ship in the world, and is housed in the Jonathan Bourne Whaling Museum building. The gallery showcases an exhibit from the Azores, explaining the whaling life and how so many men came to New Bedford from their home land. Youngsters will want to climb to the upper levels to see the stuffed sea creatures.

Cobblestone streets and restored buildings make up a several block area suited to walking and exploring. Guided tours by National Park Rangers, and self-guided "app" tours are offered. The waterfront Visitor Center has hands-on displays suitable for children along with ink stamps and trading cards for your little collector.

A 20 minute film ties all of the elements together. The Seamen's Bethel and the Mariners house are included in your admission and you can see some old movie posters from the movie Moby Dick. The museum does a Moby Dick marathon each year as well, reading the Melville classic along with trivia and special events for the whole family.

Across the street and along the water, docks are crowded with fishing vessels waiting for their next excursion. New Bedford Harbor is the number one fishing port in the nation — truly a seafood hub. Cod, haddock and scallops make up the bulk of the over 100 million pounds of seafood product landed per year.

Ragucci: Intellectual gem of TMHS

By MATT FRONDUTO

Without a doubt one of the most ingenious, hard working, and dedicated students in the entirety of TMHS, Felicia Ragucci has made quite the name for herself in her four years of high school. Perhaps a more appropriate way to summarize what Ragucci has accomplished in her high school career is to describe what she has not done, because she has pretty much done it all.

For starters, Felicia, through sheer will and determination, founded and now presides over Tewksbury High's Science Bowl Team, a group that annually travels to UConn to compete in the Northeast Regional Science Bowl — a contest that pits schools against one another to judge who is the most well-versed in the fields of science, technology, and mathematics.

That is only the tip of the iceberg when it comes to the wide array of achievements which Felicia has attained, as she also holds the well respected and elusive position of Co-President of the National Honor Society, through which she has organized upwards of 20 community service projects, and participated in nearly as many.

Already Felicia's resume is impressive, but add her participation in ECHO, Academic Decathlon, Math Team, and Peer Leadership, and it just becomes yet more impressive. And yet, although her participation in various extracurriculars is intensive, she has still found time to secure an internship with Thermo Fisher Scientific, a company who produces biotechnological products.

And despite all of these activities seemingly filling Ragucci's schedule to the brim, she still finds time to pursue some of her favorite hobbies, some of which include reading, writing, and of course, talking and hanging out with her friends.

With such immense levels of ambition and intelligence, it should come as little surprise that this is reflected in Felicia's choice of university. Having shown interest in Boston College, Dartmouth College, Williams College, and Harvard University, Felicia has already been accepted into BC, and considering her stellar grades and deep community involvement, she has ample reason to be optimistic with regards to the remaining universities.

While attending college, Felicia aims to study with a double major — simultaneously exploring subjects in the fields of humanities and science, likely, she says, English and Biology.

Using her incredible ambition and intellect, Ragucci is not only pursuing her medical degree, but she would also like to one day become a college professor, as she would not only be allowed to teach students, but also to conduct her own research.

There is little doubt among members of the TMHS community that Ragucci is not only one of the most intellectually powerful students in the school, but she has also established herself as a pillar of the Tewksbury High community, and while she will miss her friends, teachers, and mentors at the school, these feelings will pale in comparison to how dearly the community of TMHS will miss Felicia next year.

Lemieux has curriculum spectrum covered

By TROY ACCONCIA

A current senior at Tewksbury Memorial High School, Jordan Lemieux knows what it takes to succeed.

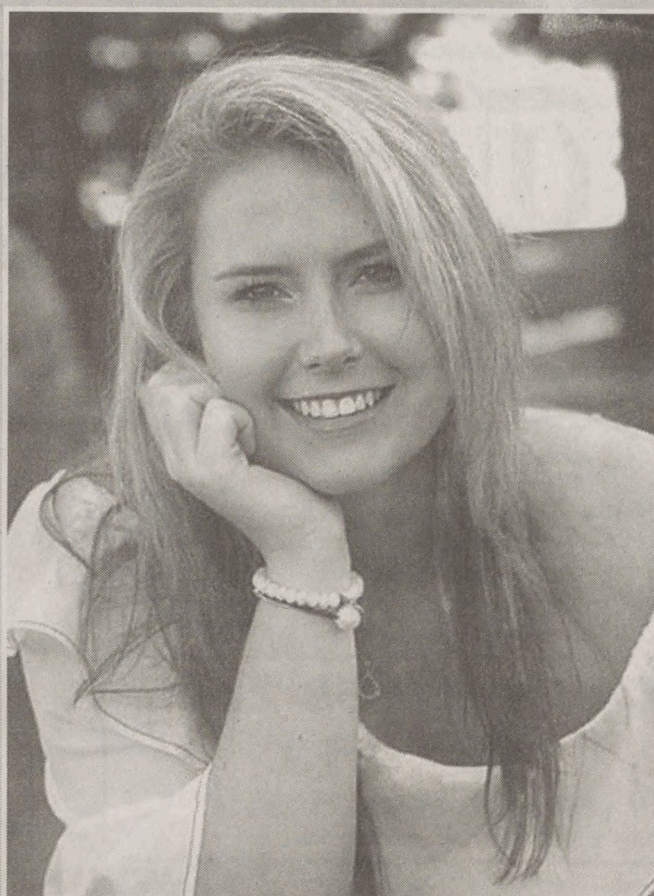

Lemieux has lived in Tewksbury for her entire life with her mom, older brother Dylan, and younger brother Cooper. As a child, Jordan loved playing outside, going to dance class, and riding ATVs with her brothers.

Throughout high school Jordan says that her favorite part has been the pep rallies and going to hockey games with her friends. Her least favorite part of high school: the infamous coffee ban if you were late.

As for her grades, Lemieux has been pretty steady. She has made the honor roll on a quarterly basis and doesn't seem to be slowing down. Jordan does this all while taking difficult AP classes such as Statistics and Economics.

Outside of the classroom, Jordan is somehow even more impressive. Lemieux has been a part of the dance team, Best Buddies, volleyball team, DECA Club, and National Honor Society! She has covered the entire extracurricular spectrum.

Outside of school, you can find Jordan behind the counter at pizzeria and eatery, Villa Roma.

Senior year is almost over and it's almost time for Jordan to start packing for college. The question still remains, where will Jordan Lemieux be attending this fall? She is currently trying to decide between UNH and Penn State. Although she has an undecided major, it is evident that Jordan will carve out an important role in her desired university.

On her free time, Lemieux loves hanging out with her friends, going to Mac's Ice Cream, and watching her favorite TV show, One Tree Hill.

It looks like Jordan has a bright future ahead. If her high school career is any hint at what may come in college and beyond, you better watch out. Jordan Lemieux's knowledge, sociability, and fantastic work ethic will make her a force in years to come.

2:19 p.m.: After police verified that a Water Street resident had a raccoon living in her chimney, Animal Control determined that the chimney was blocked off from the house and called to have the chimney capped.

2:57 p.m.: A hit and run involving a Chevrolet Impala and a Honda Pilot was called in by a witness. The incident occurred in the parking lot of Elia's Country Store on Middlesex Avenue and police found the other driver on Wilson Road to get him to exchange information.

Sunday, March 18:

4:34 p.m.: A low hanging wire was reported in front of a Grove Avenue home. The wire did not obstruct traffic but did slightly block the house's driveway. Verizon was notified.

Several downed power lines all over town

Monday, March 12:

8:47 a.m.: A Nissan Altima and a Jeep Liberty were involved in a motor vehicle collision at Bill Dube on Main Street. No one was injured.

8:48 a.m.: A TT unit got stuck in a low hanging wire at Rocco's Restaurant on Main Street. Employees from Rocco's lifted the wires to get it in and out of the parking lot.

5:02 p.m.: A cable wire came down across a driveway on Jacobs Street.

Tuesday, March 13:

8:04 a.m.: A Ford F-350 and a Volkswagen Jetta, one of which was a town vehicle, were involved in a collision on Cook Street.

8:35 a.m.: A tree limb fell and came to rest on a wire on Dadant Drive. The wire hung low over a lawn, but it was high enough that it did not block traffic.

12:46 p.m.: Police notified Verizon of a wire hanging low and resting on a truck on Burlington Avenue.

3:17 p.m.: Police found parts of a gray Ford while investigating a hit and run on Shawsheen Avenue.

4:26 p.m.: A Keolis truck hit another Chevrolet while backing up and sanding. No one was injured and both vehicles remained drivable.

6:07 p.m.: An Acura TL drove into a snowbank at the intersection of Church Street and Adams Street. The car was not damaged as far as police could tell.

6:32 p.m.: One residence on Patricia Road lost cable service as a low hanging wire hung about three feet above the street. Police hung the wire higher to allow traffic to pass and notified Comcast.

8:34 p.m.: A tree fell onto a cable wire on Woodland Road, leaving it sparking and about six to eight feet above the ground.

Wednesday, March 14:

2:28 a.m.: A motor vehicle collision occurred on Ballardvale Street involving a Toyota Corolla and a Chevrolet Silverado. No injuries were reported.

7:11 a.m.: One party complaining of neck and back pain wasn't transported by a Fire Department medical vehicle after a collision on Industrial Way involving a Honda Civic and a Toyota Yaris.

7:28 a.m.: A motor vehicle collision involving a Toyota Camry and a Hyundai Tucson occurred at the intersection of Aldrich Road and Buckingham Road. No injuries were reported.

11:15 a.m.: A motor vehicle collision involving a Hyundai Santa Fe and a Toyota CHR occurred in a parking lot on Middlesex Avenue. No injuries were reported.

12:53 p.m.: A Toyota Corolla and a Kia Sorento were involved in a collision in the Market Basket parking lot on Main Street.

7:31 p.m.: A Toyota Tundra hit a Hyundai Sonata on Andover Street and continued without exchanging information.

Thursday, March 15:

7:25 a.m.: A Toyota Corolla ran off the road on Chestnut Street. Police had the Department of Public Works salt the road to prevent another vehicle from slipping.

7:37 a.m.: A minor motor vehicle collision occurred on Ballardvale Street involving a Hyundai Sonata and a Nissan Maxima.

12:47 p.m.: Police removed a fallen wire from Westdale Avenue after it was pulled down, possibly by a trash truck.

Last call for Good Guy nominations tomorrow

WILMINGTON — When you're out having a good time, sometimes you don't want to hear the words "Last Call." When you have been putting off your nominations for the 2018 Good Guy, you may be thankful for this reminder.

This year's Wilmington Good Guy will be inducted on Friday, May 11 at the Wilmington Knights of Columbus Hall.

Let us know who you think should be this year's recipient. Who does more for Wilmington than anyone else, without looking for something in return? Who is selfless above all others in working with kids, seniors, or community members?

Tell the committee about this person and how they have impacted the community. This is your chance to bring recognition to them.

The deadline for nominating individuals this year is tomorrow at 5 p.m. Nominations can be mailed to the Wilmington Good Guy Committee c/o Bob DiPalma, 12 Harold Ave. Wilmington or they can be emailed to wgoodguy@verizon.net.

A person's work performed as an elected official or through a paid employment position is not eligible for this award.

Secretary of Veterans' Services Urena visits Housing Unit for Veterans

BILLERICA — Middlesex Sheriff Peter J. Koutoujian welcomed Massachusetts Department of Veterans' Services Secretary Francisco A. Ureña for a visit to the Housing Unit for Military Veterans (HUMV) on Wednesday, March 14, 2018.

The visit to the Middlesex Jail & House of Correction came nearly two years to the day after Governor Charlie Baker helped formally open the Commonwealth's only dedicated unit for incarcerated Veterans.

"It was an honor to welcome Secretary Ureña to our HUMV and speak with the nearly two dozen inmates and detainees currently in the program," said Sheriff Koutoujian. "The Secretary and his team have been incredible supporters and partners in our efforts to help these men build upon their common bonds, right the ship and return to their families in a better place then when they came through our doors."

In addressing HUMV participants, Secretary Ureña discussed the role of the Department of Veterans' Services, as well as programs, initiatives and resources for Veterans in the Commonwealth.

"Middlesex County is leading the way in providing positive, appropriate and much needed services to incarcerated veterans. The reduction in recidivism is one indication that the program is working. I am glad I have been able to see firsthand, the good work being done by Sheriff Koutoujian and his staff," said Secretary Ureña.

Since its opening in 2016, more than 180 individual Veterans have participated in HUMV, with 117 having spent at least 30 days in the unit. A recent recidivism review showed that of those 117 men, only six — or 5.1% — have subsequently been convicted of a new crime or had a violation of parole or probation that resulted in additional jail time.

In addition to the Department of Veterans' Services, MSO staff works closely with the US Department of Veterans Affairs, the Massachusetts Veterans' Treatment Courts and a host of public and private organizations and volunteers on programming offered inside the unit, as well as post-release services.

cies as well as directing the testing and inspection of vehicles and equipment. He also was responsible for conducting training.

In terms of his goals as chief, McMahon says that he is currently working to increase the amount of manpower at the station.

"We've been talking with the Town Manager to add another layer of officers," he said. "There should be one officer for every four men."

As he has much experience working with the Wilmington Fire Department, Hull is confident that McMahon will be a good fit for the position.

"He is intimately familiar with the operations of the Wilmington Fire Department and I am fully confident that he will provide strong leadership in the department and serve as a resource to fellow department heads and the community at large," Hull said in a statement to the Wilmington Patch.

Reflecting on his first few weeks as chief, McMahon feels comfortable in his new position, and feels he will continue to get used to the position in time.

"Right now it seems to be a good fit," he said. "It's a matter of getting used to the job."

develop themselves."

Part of what should be drawing and keeping teachers, he said, is understanding what it means to teach in Wilmington.

Making sure that students are a priority, Ragsdale also wants to focus on the classroom.

"There are new state science standards and we're still in the process of getting those aligned."

He wants to update curriculum so that it complies. He also would think carefully about how technology is integrated as an educational tool to benefit the students in an affordable and sustainable way. Ragsdale is excited to have the chance to meet more residents and potentially represent them on the Wilmington School Committee.

Assistant Superintendent chosen to lead in Newburyport

Crier last month that his interest in the position stemmed from its closeness to his family in Salem.

"Having to balance career and family... it's really important to be closer to home and closer to my daughter[s]," he shared.

The asst. supt. noted that family comes first for him, which includes his daughter who goes to Beverly High School and one who is away at college.

Newburyport brings him closer to family and home.

"The life of a superintendent is 24/7," he said. "You look at timing; you look at fit; you look at family life."

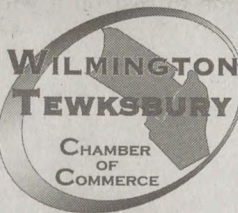

Another piece of his decision came from his work with the Cape Ann League and the Northeastern Conference. With decades of experience as Beverly High School Principal and Salem High's Athletic Director, he dealt a lot with different surrounding towns, including but not limited to Newburyport.

For Wilmington, while the community will most assuredly miss his leadership, especially this past year as it transitioned from interim supt. to interim supt. to finally full-time supt. with the acquisition of Dr. Glenn Brand, Gallagher is excited about the new opportunity.

He said last month that timing was important and the Newburyport job opening up was just perfect timing. He also noted that he enjoyed his role as asst. supt. but acknowledged he had no interest in the full-time supt. position in Wilmington.

Humble Home Care Services

Happy and Healthy at Home... "The Humble Approach"

978-710-3854 / www.humblehcs.com 2 Meeting House Rd., Chelmsford, MA 01824

Humble Home Care Services provides exceptional, customized personal care services for the disabled and senior population. We are family owned and locally operated so our reputation is as important as the care we provide. We have been in business for just over four years but have more than ten years of experience.

At Humble, we value quality of life at every age. Our "Humble Approach" is a mindset that puts our clients needs, wants and abilities in the forefront. We believe a smile, positive attitude, and some good "old-fashioned" encouragement improves our clients attitude which leads to participation in activities that stimulates their mind and body; leading to a happier and healthier life.

When you contact Humble Home Care Services, we will briefly discuss your needs and schedule a free in-home assessment. The purpose of this assessment is to meet the family, gather information about daily needs, and evaluate any safety or health concerns. The assessment is always performed by our staffed Registered Nurse. If we agree that we are a good fit for services, we will develop a personalized care plan.

This is only the beginning of our relationship. We know the needs we are fulfilling today, may not be required, or may be different in the future and only through regular communication can we evaluate those needs. We want to be more than just a hired hand helping when you are unavailable; we strive to be the eyes, ears, and voice that shares the ups and downs of your loved one's daily life.

If you need help caring for yourself or your loved one and want to build a lasting relationship with a professional organization who values family, faith and friendship, contact Humble Home Care Services. We are happy to supply you with references and credentials upon request.

KEEP THEM CLEAR

If there's a fire hydrant near your house, do your part to keep it accessible this winter:

3 ft. CLEAR-AWAY ZONE

- Remove any snow and ice
- Clear a wide enough perimeter around the hydrant for firefighters to work (about 3 feet)
- Clear a path from hydrant to street

▲ Do your part and keep the hydrants clear. In an emergency, precious time can be lost if a hydrant has to be cleared out so the firefighters can get to it.

Growing company seeks tax break from town property to determine the increase in that company's tax bill. Analog Devices has asked the town not to tax the increased value of this new construction project.

With 1,600 employees, Analog Devices is the largest employer in town.

One week before the Board of Selectmen meeting on March 12, the town made the company a counteroffer for a smaller sum, distributed over a shorter time period. "Back and forth" conversation has ensued, and the town is continuing conversations to find a solution suitable to both the company and the town.

A committee comprised of a cross-sectional representation of town officials is part of the conversations with Analog Devices. This committee includes Selectmen Kevin Caira and Michael McCoy.

"We are working very diligently with it to make sure that we benefit the residents," said Selectman Kevin Caira, noting that finding a solution for both residents and employees is a "fine balance."

Selectman Greg Bendel said he is "opposed to giving any business a 20-year tax break," as he worries about other companies following the example and, in turn, asking for their own tax cuts.

Selectman Ed Loud thanked the committee for its conservative approach to the discussion.

The next step in the process is another conversation with Analog Devices. There is currently a "placeholder" article on the Town Meeting warrant, which will be replaced with an article proposing a tax rate upon an agreement being reached.

Under 12 Girls Hockey team takes home Tier 3 State Tournament Title

This past weekend the District 10 Champions Wilmington Wildcats girls U12 hockey team competed in the Tier 3 Mass State Hockey Tournament in West Springfield. Only eight teams, out of hundreds in Massachusetts, earned the privilege to play and the Wildcats proved they deserved to be there.

They opened up late Friday night at 9:00 with a game against played Allston-Brighton, suffering a hard fought 2-1 loss. It was a close contest with AB opening the scoring in the second period. Wilmington's Lexi Engvaldsen tied the score with just under five minutes left in the game as she banged in a rebound off Antonia DiZoglio's shot. AB would come back two minutes later to take the lead. For the last two minutes, the puck would buzz around the AB net but the puck would not cross the goal line and AB won 2-1.

On Saturday morning, Wilmington faced off against Arlington, a team who had beaten the Wildcats 7-1 just a few months ago. This game would end differently. After a scoreless first period, Wilmington's dynamic Brenna Young dashed up the left boards and into enemy territory and drew three Arlington defenders to her. She wisely dumped the puck into the corner where an alert Juliana Angiuoni raced to the puck and sent it around and behind the net where a dashing Ashley Mercier would pick up the puck just inside the blue line and rifled a shot on net that eluded the Arlington netminder and Wilmington was up 1-0.

Less than two minutes later, the hard forechecking work of DiZoglio and Giovanna Gulinello resulted in Wilmington gaining possession at the blue line and defensive star Alex Lavigne rifled a high wrist shot with her brand new stick and it was nothing but net, and Wilmington was up 2-0.

Arlington, an extremely talented and fast skating team, battled back in the third period and scored with just over four minutes left setting up a wild finish. While Wilmington was controlling the action, an Arlington skater broke free inside the blue line and had a breakaway on Wilmington netminder Mia Gonsalves. Gonsalves, as so many times before, once again proved why she is one of the top u12 goalies in the entire state as she thwarted the attempt and saved the victory for the Wildcats.

On Saturday night, Wilmington would face off against Duxbury, their toughest opponent all year. While Duxbury, the eventual runners up, would come out victorious, Wilmington would not back down from their towering opponents. Even in defeat, this was the Wildcats strongest game of the entire season.

All 18 girls played amazing, all 18 played selflessly and all 18 contributed mightily to the team's success.

Pee Wee 1's come away with a convincing win

It was a happy Saint Patrick's Day for the Wilmington Wildcats PeeWee 1 hockey team as they defeated Everett/Revere by the score of 6-2 on Saturday afternoon closing out their regular season with their eighth consecutive win at the Cronin Skating Rink in Revere.

It seemed to take most of the first period for the Cats to get going but once they did, it was on! After a scoreless first period that saw Griffin Carr make some nice saves, the Wildcats got on the board early in the second while on the power play. Jacob Smith kept the puck in the attacking zone and put a pass down low to Tyler Beals who passed out to Patrick Mozuch at the point, the rebound from his slapshot came out to Jake McLean. McLean flipped the puck in the net on the short side to give Wilmington a 1-0 lead.

Then at 8:27 with E/R on the attack, Pat Mozuch blocked a shot and fed an aerial pass into the neutral zone to Beals who sped in and fired a shot on goal which handcuffed the E/R netminder and found its way to the back of the net to make it 2-0. Not long after that the Wildcats scored another power play goal when Smith again kept the puck in at the line and gave a nice pass to Brett Ebert who juiced three defenders and put the puck in the net stick side to put the Cats up 3-0. The defensive efforts of Charlie Chirichiello, Jonathan Dalton and Matthew Mozuch helped keep Everett/Revere off of the score board at the end of two.

Wilmington entered the final period with some strong offense from Daniel Lagunilla, Bobby Dodge, Alex Burns, Ryan Hayden and Brett Gallucci. Despite the sensational goaltending from Carr, E/R was able to score at 10:22 to make it 3-1.

Competitive play continued at both ends as Everett/Revere tried hard to close the gap. With 7:01 left to play the Wildcats found themselves shorthanded and E/R scored again on a failed clearing attempt. This fired up the Cats and just 25 seconds later Beals blocked a dump in attempt and was off to the races. Beals streaked down the right side and ripped a hard wrist shot bar down to put Wilmington up 4-2.

The Wildcats stayed strong and continued to play hard. Huge plays were made both offensively and defensively. With 3:15 left to play, Ebert won the draw to McLean who returned an indirect pass. Ebert flew down the right side through three defenders again, and sizzled a tough angle shot far side, bottom corner to put the Cats ahead 5-2.

Everett/Revere scrambled as time was running out and pulled their goalie. Carr came up with some big saves and with just 43 seconds to go, Ebert blocked a shot, broke away and buried his third goal of the game into the empty net to give the Wildcats a convincing 6-2 victory. Ebert has notched two hat tricks in the last two games.

Wilmington High School Sub-Varsity Sports Teams Round-Ups

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com

At the varsity level, the Wilmington High Boys Hockey team had a very successful season, making a late season surge to qualify for the state tournament, and then winning a pair of games to advance all the way to the Division 2 North Sectional semi-finals.

It was certainly a season to be proud of, and one to build on, and if the performance of the Wildcats junior varsity program is any indication, many more good seasons lie ahead for the hockey program, as the young Wildcats squad powered their way to a 16-2-3 record on the season.

While the Wildcats record was indeed impressive, their coach Colin Foley, in his fourth year coaching the JV squad, was equally impressed with how hard his team worked during the season to continue to improve.

"The team definitely improved each game, and I think the big thing for my team this year was consistency. We had a consistent playing style for most of the season," Foley said. "There's always going to be highs and lows throughout the season but you just try to minimize the lows and overcome those days. The coaches in our hockey program push the kids to be better each day and to not keep making the same mistakes over and over, try to be better each practice and each game. I had a resilient group and a group of kids who worked well together and enjoy the game."

And while the Wildcats were certainly consistent throughout the season, Foley felt that one of their best games came late in the season when the team had reached their full potential, when they earned a hard fought 7-3 win over a talented Reading squad.

"Reading has a strong hockey program and it is usually a grind of a game against them," Foley said. "We lost to them earlier in the year 4-2. We stressed having a good start and jumping on them early and we did just that and we played our best game of the year. We were balanced defensively, fore-checked hard, and my two goalies who have been great all year were great again. It was a total team effort and I was proud of how they played."

The Wildcats got contributions up and down their roster, but several players did stand out, including the team's leading goal scorer, Brendon George, while Christian Robarge and Zach Kincaid also had big seasons.

"Brendon has a real strong release and ability to be dangerous in the offensive zone from anywhere," Foley said. "Christian has a very high hockey IQ and sees the game better than most. He is strong on the puck and a playmaker. His cousin, Zach Kincaid, is a physical and gritty player who likes the physical play and works extremely hard. Zach can shoot and make the play to set a teammate up."

Some other key players for the Wildcats were Peter Kourkoutas, Jason Davey, and Taylor Padulsky.

"Those guys are smart hockey players who can both score and assist, all three are smart in the defensive zone and offensive zone," Foley said. "Peter is a big kid who will take the puck hard to the net and has the stick skills to finish."

Alex Fitzler and Sam Cedrone were the Wildcats goalies this season, providing the Wildcats with an outstanding last line of defense.

"Both of my goalies were great all year, and both are as consistent as they come," Foley said. "Fitzler is one of the very few lefty goalies to come through WHS and is an overall athletic player. I had him in freshman soccer. Sam reads the play well and knows when to challenge the shooter and when to stay back and let them come to him. Both goalies are competitive and worked hard all year."

Kyle Collins, Justin Crowley, James Kourkoutas, and Ryan Packer were solid defensively for the Wildcats all season all year, and Foley felt that each player brought a unique and vital set of skills to their position.

"Collins and is a stay at home defenseman who sees the ice well and is strong on one on one plays. Crowley is a strong skater who can move the puck and does so effectively," Foley said. "Ryan Packer is a smart player who knows when to pinch, and when to stay back, Packer is a consistent player and you know exactly what you are going to get from him day in and day out. James Kourkoutas is a freshman who shows promise in his ability to skate and distribute the puck up ice."

Foley, who has also coached the Freshman Boys Soccer program at Wilmington High, and is a former Wildcats soccer and hockey star, will look back on this season with great pride.

"This was a really fun season, it was a great group of boys who had fun playing hockey with one another, everyone got along and the chemistry was there all season," Foley said. "Every practice and every game the boys had a positive attitude and were happy to be there playing with one another and doing everything they could to win the game, every game they left it all out on the ice and it was a great season."

Members of the Wilmington High JV Boys Hockey team were Anthony Savage, James Kourkoutas, Chris Bernazani, Ryan Packer, Anthony Gallucci, Christian Robarge, Dylan Wargo, Peter Kourkoutas, Justin Crowley, Derek Gallucci, Zach Smith, Joe

Hartzell, Jason Davey, Harry Serounian, Taylor Padulsky, Brendon George, Kyle Collins, Jacob Fox, Zach Kincaid, Samuel Cedrone, Alex Fitzler, Dean Nally and Jared Homola.

JV BOYS HOOP

The Wilmington High JV Boys Basketball team was not as successful as their hockey counterparts in terms of wins and losses, but under the direction of second year coach Pat Taylor, the Wildcats did gain plenty of experience which should serve them very well in the near future, with many seniors graduating off of this year's varsity squad.

The Wildcats struggled to a 4-12 overall record, but along the way many players gained the skill and experience that will help them be successful at the next level.

"The team improved a lot throughout the course of the season. We had some learning curves at the beginning of the year, particularly with three freshmen as starters, but the boys showed great presence and really showed a lot of growth throughout the season," Taylor said. "The team we started with in December was completely different when we finished in February. All the credit goes to the players for their commitment and hard work in improving."

That commitment and hard work seemed to pay off as the season went on, with one of their biggest wins of the season coming in a rematch against Melrose. Along with picking up a win over Shawsheen Tech in a game at the TD Garden, Taylor counted the win over Melrose as the biggest of the season for his team.

"It goes without saying, but the experience at the Garden is something the kids nor myself will ever forget," Taylor said. "Other than the obvious, we played Melrose in Melrose in early February. We had played them earlier in the season and lost at home in a tight game. Ryan Clarke and Kevin Palmerino both hit big shots to help force overtime and eventually win the game. Kevin took a crucial charge call for us as well, which sticks out the most in my mind. When a player is willing to sacrifice themselves like that for the team, especially something that isn't tracked as a stat, it really makes you proud as a coach."

While players like Clarke and Palmerino were two of the leaders of the team, Taylor, who is in his second year coaching the JV squad, but in his tenth year with the Wilmington basketball program, felt that the entire team contributed throughout the season, and that all of his players have an opportunity to compete the next level.

"The varsity team is graduating ten players from this year's team so there is a lot of opportunity available," Taylor said. "All eleven guys contributed to the team in one way or another during the season."

FRESHMAN BOYS HOOP

Wins were not easy to come by for the Wilmington High Freshman Basketball team, but what was easy to come by was tremendous improvement throughout the roster, as well as a fun season that will be long remembered by the Wildcats players and coaches.

While their 3-11 overall record was not exactly what they had in mind, Wildcats coach Chris DiCecca and his young squad accomplished the primary goal of any freshman team, in growing the players knowledge and skill at the game, while at the same time preparing them, for the upper levels of the program.

DiCecca, who knew how hard his team had worked all season, was thrilled when the Wildcats were able to get their first win of the year in a triumph over Stoneham midway through the season, a game where the Wildcats mounted a furious comeback to get into the win column for the first time.

"We were down nine midway through the third quarter. We had been in this situation in a lot of our games prior, gutsy, grind games where in the end we'd come up a little short on the offensive end," DiCecca said. "This game however, was different. We knew we could fight our way back if we buckled down on the defensive end, and sure enough we did. Every player was a major contributor! We took care of the ball, forced turnovers with our press,

Piracini part of Norwich University's National Championship Team

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

Norwich University junior forward Jess Piracini had been in plenty of big games prior to last Saturday night's Division 3 NCAA National Championship game against Elmira.

The Tewksbury native had played in three consecutive state championship games during her amazing career with the Arlington Catholic Girls Hockey team, winning the Division 1 state title in her freshman year and seeing her season end in heartbreak in her sophomore and junior years with losses in the championship game at TD Garden.

But as big as those were, those were high school state championship games. This was a whole new level of big game, with the NCAA Division 3 national title at stake.

Playing at their home rink, the Kreitzberg Arena, the Cadets and Elmira were tied 1-1 late in the game, and looking like they were heading for a nerve racking overtime period. But the Cadets Sophie McGovern instead ended the drama early, scoring the game winning power play goal with 1:33 left, giving Norwich the second NCAA title in their history and their first since 2011.

Last season, the Cadets had advanced as far as the Division 3 semi-finals before falling to Plattsburgh State, making this year's championship game win all the more satisfying for Piracini and the Cadets.

"It was awesome," Piracini said. "It was great to do it on our home rink too after getting so close last year. It was really special to come back this year and win it."

Piracini did not play in the championship game, instead watching from the locker room with several of her teammates, but that didn't make the game any less stressful for her. In fact, if anything it added to the anxiety, not being able to be on the ice to help her team the way she had in so many big games in the past. While she was not on the ice, she was still able to think back to what it was like playing in those big games at the Garden.

"In a lot of ways it is pretty much the same thing, with two teams playing their last game of the season, with everything on the line for both teams," Piracini said. "It definitely helped me prepare for the tournament."

Her playing days at Arlington Catholic also helped prepare her for the elite talent she faces on a nightly basis at the collegiate level. Despite playing at the highest level of high school hockey at Arlington Catholic, the jump to the college game was still a big move for Piracini back in the fall of 2015 when she joined the Cadets.

After being AC's second leading scorer in both her junior and senior seasons, with 29 points in each year, Piracini made the transition ore smoothly than most, appearing in 26 games as a freshman with the Cadets, scoring two goals and adding four assists, while compiling a +8 plus/minus rating.

"It was definitely a step up, because now you are playing against all of the best high school kids in the country," Piracini said. "But I just looked to the upperclassmen and tried to get some tips from them and learn along the way."

Piracini's playing time has diminished somewhat over the past couple of seasons, playing in ten games as a sophomore and eleven games this year as a junior, but her scoring touch certainly has not diminished, as she scored three goals to go along with five assists for eight points in just ten games last season, while putting up 3-4-7 totals in just eleven this season.

"I have a different role with the team, more like a support role and I want to fill that the best that I can, and get in whenever I can," Piracini said. "It is definitely frustrating at times, working hard in practice, but not playing in games for a couple of weeks, but it is also good because it keeps you competitive and keeps you giving one hundred percent because you never know when you are going to get to play."

Piracini did get to play in a couple of big games for the Cadets in the post season, scoring two goals and adding an assist in a 10-0 win over New England College in the New England Hockey Conference quarterfinals, and then picking up an assist in the NCAA quarterfinals during an 8-2 win over Morrisville State.

The assist against Morrisville will be something Piracini will never forget.

"That was my first time playing in an NCAA playoff game, so it was awesome hearing my name in the arena, and just being a part of that win," Piracini said.

Norwich coach Mark Bolding was proud of the effort that Piracini and her teammates put forth in winning the national title, and added that the commitment they showed in winning the title should serve them well in areas of life well beyond hockey.

"They are a special group, and this will be memorable," Bolding told the USCHO web site. "They'll have tough moments moving forward, and awesome moments, and I know this one will be special for them."

With her team now having achieved the ultimate goal, Piracini will be looking to be a part of more big wins next season when the Cadets hit the ice to defend their title. With a talented group of players coming back including juniors like Piracini and former Arlington Catholic teammate Adrianna Rossini, and sophomore Amanda Conway, the former Tewksbury/Methuen star who was the Cadets leading scorer this season, Piracini is hoping the Cadets can make another run at the title, although she knows it won't be easy.

"It will be very exciting to be a senior and to try and win it in my last year of playing hockey," Piracini said. "But we know everyone will be trying to beat us, so we know it will be a very tough challenge."

Mercury and Pacers take home championship titles in Tewksbury Youth Girls Hoop

TGBL March Madness
Junior Division
Mercury wins championship

The one word to describe team Mercury throughout the length of the three games they played this past weekend is teamwork. Every single player contributed to each and every win by playing their hearts out and playing tremendous defense.

Round 1

Mercury 8, Comets 4

Krissi MacDonald took offensive charge and scored four points, Madison Burke and Sophia Cappello each added a basket all in the first quarter. Mercury didn't score the rest of the game, but again the defense of the entire team kept the comets at a total score of four points.

Semi-Finals

Mercury 12, Mystics 2

At the end of the first quarter, the game was scoreless and then in the second quarter baskets were made by Maya Paquette and Madison Burke to end the first half with a score of 4-0.

Maya Paquette added two more baskets and another basket by Bridge Kelleher (first one of the season) to end the third with a score of 10-0. Carly Heichman added her second basket of the season to finish the game with a score of 12-2.

Finals

Mercury 10, Storm 7

Sophia Cappello scored four points, Julianna Cappello scored and Maya Paquette scored two points each along with Paige Crowley adding a basket to win the finals by a score of 10-7.

Audrey Shanahan played both offense and defense with all her heart along with Allison Shpritzer who was a defensive machine.

All ten members of the team passed when they needed to, dribbled out of trouble, took good shots and were rebounding machines.

Senior Division

Round 1

Pacers 40, Spurs 20

The Pacers got the win and advanced to another round on but hats off to the Spurs Team including Ninth Graders, Assistant Coach MaryKate Callinan, Madison Pierce, Megan Boudreau, Brianna Iandoli, Erin McIntyre who graduate from the program and Eighth Graders, Madison Kearney, Elizabeth Pacheco, Jess Hickey, Emma Nowell and Jordan Gardner who will return next season to continue their basketball skills.

The Pacers matched up against the mighty Spurs and were able to pull through to the second round of the tournament. Leading all scorers was Katie Polimeno with 14 points followed by Lexi Polimeno and Adrianna Niles both with eight each.

Rounding out the scoring was Abby MacCallister (4), Lily Gigante (4) and Maisan Nguyen (2). During the second quarter, Jaylee Howard had a great basket, but a time out called by the Pacers coach at the same time, interrupted it.

Defensive stars Nguyen, Niles, Gigante and MacCallister helped keep the Pacers in the match.

Lexi and Katie Polimeno together played a solid game on both ends.

Semi-Finals

Pacers 45, Suns 22

The game was very competitive at the half with the Suns only down by four points. They played a great 1-2-2 defense to keep it close, but in end the Pacers had way to much fire power. Madison Stovesand, Juliana Ricci, and Klara Holden led the defensive effort with rebounding, blocks and steals.

The team's scoring came from Madison with a game high nine, Christina Capachietti five, Brooke Woodman four, Courtney Capachietti two and Abby Hansbury and Kaitlyn Oates with one each.

During Round 2 of March Madness, the Pacers matched up against the very well balanced Suns squad. The match was fast faced and both teams put in tons of work. As the Suns launched forward to close the score within points, the Pacers stayed focused and kept their heads in the game. Maisan Nguyen was a force on defense with a handful of steals and foiled several fast breaks by the Suns.

Adrianna Niles made several huge blocks under the Suns net and with Ally Ragusa and Lily Gigante, collected many rebounds. Lexi Polimeno, Abby MacCallister and Katie Polimeno all played fantastic ball with key contributions throughout the game. Jaylee Howard once again was at the end of several tie ups, gaining key possessions for the team.

The scoring was led by Adrianna Niles with 15 points, followed by Katie Polimeno (12), Lexi Polimeno (9) and rounding out our scoring was Ally Ragusa and Abby MacCallister with four each. Sonics 43, Blazers 26

The Sonics pulled together for a fantastic tournament semi-final game against the Blazers. Alyssa Gray was the team stand-out on defense. Gray (2 blocks) denied any scoring from the lower key and wing while boxing out to grab several defensive rebounds.

Pacers win playoff title

Erica Hinkle (2 pts) played relentless, quick defense at the top of the key to limit three-point shots, and their smart passes led to teammates' open shots. Amanda Moreira (5 pts) was great at shooting, landing a 3-pointer, and was tough at rebounding on defense.

Ava Piccolo (4 pts) landed two perfect jumpshots late in the game. Rachel Picher (4 pts) led the Sonics offense, selflessly working the ball into the Sonics centers and forwards for scoring opportunities. Michelle Hinkle (10pts) and Asha Speller (16pts) dominated the boards and had great moves in the key, combining to score half of the Sonics points.

Injured Allie Indingaro, continuing to be player-coach, encouraged the team and helped the coaches with game-time strategies.

Finals

Pacers 35, Sonics 13

The Sonics battled hard but were not able to come up with a win against the Pacers. Forwards Amanda Moreira and Alyssa Gray had great offensive moves and shots, but nothing would fall.

Guards Emily Walker and Ava Piccolo played tough to move the ball past the Pacers defense. Asha Speller (3 pts) defended the key well, and Rachel Picher (2 pts) and Erica Hinkle (2 pts) played gritty defense against the opposing guards. Michelle Hinkle (6pts), alternating between guard and center, was high scorer for the Sonics.

The Pacers matched up against the undefeated and talented Sonics in the finals of March Madness. Once again, Maisan Nguyen shined with her quiet, but tenacious defense and Jamie Munroe, who just stepped off a plane, collected six huge rebounds for the team.

Ally Ragusa and Lily Gigante also collected several key boards and played a solid game today. Jaylee Howard completed her season as our most improved player working harder and harder each week and always giving 100 percent with a smile.

Katie Polimeno played one of her best defensive games of the season and led the team's offense with 14 points.

Playing in their last in town match, the graduating players: Lexi Polimeno, Abby MacCallister and Adrianna Niles left nothing behind as they gave it their all today.

Rounding out the scoring was Lexi (9), Adrianna (6), Abby (4) and Ally (2).

The Tewksbury 8Blue youth girls travel basketball team defeated Wilmington, Lowell and North Andover to win the RVL Division 4 tournament.

In defeating Wilmington 44-8, the team jumped out to an early lead, bettering the opponents by 20 points at halftime.

Scoring was about even, with Erica Hinkle, Nicole Potito, Jordan Gardner, Madison Kearney and Emma Hiltz all scoring six points. Lily Gigante, Ava Piccolo and Christina Wentworth all had four points. Ashley Demers scored two points while Maisan Nguyen led the team in steals.

8Blue then defeated Lowell 36-33 with a stand-out defensive performance by Nguyen (3 pts). Nguyen's steals during the press led to a second-half run by 8Blue and Lowell would never recover. Kearney (5 pts), Hiltz (3 pts) and Demers dominated the back-court press, transitioning turnovers into team layups.

Hinkle (5 pst) and Potito

(4 pts) landed layups and rebounds for points. Allison Costello, Gigante and Gardner smartly intercepted Lowell poor passes during the press. Wentworth and Piccolo were great on offense, leading all scorers with eight points each.

The final game was a 36-31 win against North Andover. 8Blue again executed the full-court press perfectly and scored half their game points on free-throws. Centers Costello, Potito and Gardner played a tough game against larger NA forwards, and their strength in the key helped secure the Tewksbury win.

Guards Nguyen (3 pts), Demers (2 pts) and Hiltz (2 pts) continued to pour on the back-court pressure. Forwards Hinkle (6 pts), Gigante (3 pts) and Piccolo (3 pts) found the holes in the NA defense.

Wentworth (10 pts) and Kearney (7 pts) combined shot 80 percent from the foul line in the second half to ice the Division 4 win for Tewksbury.

Cavs overtake Thunder, 43-17

TTBL Intermediate Division Championship Game
Cavs 43, Thunder 17

The In-Town Intermediate Championship Game took place this weekend with the Cavs and Thunder. Both Teams worked hard to make it to this final game for the 2017-2018 Season.

The Cavs jumped out early with their explosive offense and continued to execute it throughout the game to win the Championship and go undefeated with a impressive 13-0 season.

Congrats to the 6th graders graduating from the Intermediate Division, Jake Austin (10 pts) Cam Kearney (10 pts), Luke Shaw (7 pts), Ethan Hines (6 pts) Jaden Sanchez (2 pts), Chris Johnson (2 pts).

The Cavs 5th grade roster consists of Nick Kearney (2 pts) Owen Caggiano (2 pts) Anthony Curreri (2 pts) and Ryan King.

Registration now open for the 8th Annual 5K Kim Forte Memorial Event

WILMINGTON - On April 22, 2018 at 11AM, We're One Wilmington (WOW) will host its eighth annual 5K Run for Wilmington / Kim Forte walk, featuring a fun-filled morning of entertainment, friendly competition and community spirit.

We will gather at the Wilmington Town Common to celebrate both the life of Kim Forte and the amazing spirit of this very special town. Our course is fast and flat and is ideal for all ages and athletic abilities. Last year's event attracted over 550 runners, walkers and spectators from Wilmington and surrounding towns.

Registration is now open. Don't miss out on the fun - it is a wonderful way to kick off spring! Registration can be completed online or through our mail-in registration form. Both can be found at <http://onewilmington.org/projects/road-race/>.

Proceeds from the road race will be used, in part, to fund the WOW scholarship program, which has awarded $8,500 annually to deserving Wilmington students over the past eight years.

For the fifth year, WOW will also donate $3 per youth and $5 per adult registration back to local non-profit organizations selected by registered participants. Since we have started this tradition, our participants have raised over $10,000 for many deserving Wilmington organizations.

A list of organizations can be found on our registration page at <http://onewilmington.org/projects/road-race/>.

WOW is actively seeking sponsors for this event. Opportunities run the gamut and no level of sponsorship is too small.

It is largely through the generosity of our sponsors that we are able to fund our many charitable initiatives. Sponsorship levels and benefits can be found on our web site at: <http://onewilmington.org/projects/road-race/sponsors/become-a-sponsor/>. Early bird rates are available until March 23, 2018.

We invite you to visit www.onewilmington.org to learn more about We're One Wilmington and the 8th Annual 5K Run for Wilmington/Kim Forte Walk.

Annual 100 Hungry Wildcats event, April 13

The 8th Annual 100 Hungry Wildcats Fundraiser is Friday, April 13, 2018 at 7:00 PM at the Wilmington Knights of Columbus.

All proceeds from the event will help support the student athletes of WHS. Tickets for our fundraiser are now available. There are only 100 tickets being sold for the drawing and your chance to win prize money totaling $2,500.

Your donation of $100 per ticket includes:

- 1) Entrance into the drawing; First Prize $1,500, Second Prize $500, Third Prize $250, Fourth Prize $250.
- 2) Buffet Dinner for Two.
- 3) Raffle Prizes throughout the night. Raffles include gift certificates, Wilmington apparel, unique gifts and more!

If you would like to purchase a ticket or need information, please reply to this e-mail or call Kevin Cairra at (508) 633-2681 or Jack Cushing at (978) 604-2443 as soon as possible. The event has sold out in year's past so be sure to reserve your ticket soon if you'd like to attend this yearly tradition.

crashed the offensive boards, capitalized on bunny opportunities, and as a result were able to secure a ten point win.

"As great as we played, what was best to see was how mentally and emotionally they were in tune to the game. Every player played their role, supported their teammates, executed plays exceptionally, and were emotionally invested in doing what was best for the team. It was a sure testament to this team's character.

Another game that stood out to DiCecca may come as a bit of a surprise to outside observers, as the eventual outcome turned out to be a rather lopsided loss, but DiCecca felt that his team's play in a loss to Arlington proved to be a great step in the right direction for his team.

"Arlington had been doing exceptionally well all season, and it came as no surprise to our team once warm ups began. As always, we were going to bring everything we had, but at the same time as a coach you could see in our guys face the look of "ohh-jeez, what are we in for", DiCecca said. "Wouldn't you know, three minutes into the game, Arlington calls the first timeout. It was a huge eyeopener to our team. In the end we ended up losing by 25 points, but it was in that game that we as a team came to the realization that we can play with any team on any given day. I didn't have to tell them. They knew had they fixed a few things that game could have surely had a different result. We took that confidence and continued to grow off it, making every game we went into a dog fight."

The Wildcats got contributions up and down their roster, but a few players stood out among the rest, with DJ Ricupero, Chris Wong and Ryan Forcina among the players who showed great promise for the future.

"DJ was a guy who found the ball to be in his hand often in the big moment," DiCecca said. "Smooth with the dribble and deceptive as a scorer, DJ was called upon to be a playmaker. In the win against Stoneham he had 20 points, with some bigtime threes, clutch free throws, as well as a big block on the defensive end.

"As far as the big men, I like what's in store for the future of the program," DiCecca continued. "Chris Wong was a dynamic lefty scorer who was not afraid of contact at the rim. Ryan Forcina was a great rebound and energy man. The kid would run through a wall. He always had a knack of being around the ball, and as the season progressed found himself capitalizing on scoring opportunities."

While those players certainly stood out they were far from alone in their contributions to the Wildcats, with each player bringing a different set of skills to the team.

"What was so great about this team was our team versatility. We had at least one guy that could fill every role - shooter, playmaker, scorer, slasher, rebounder, energy man, and many other others," DiCecca said. "It made coaching this team so fun. Contributions came from all over. Every player brought forth a different skill than the guy next to him. I firmly believe if they all continue to diversify their game, improve upon their weaknesses, and further improve their strengths, I see no rea-

Academy in 2016, advanced to the state semi-finals the year after again losing to same NDA team that went on to win the state title and then wrapping it up with the 1-0 loss in the Division 1 state championship game on Sunday.

"I think I've had an unbelievable career and it's been so much fun," she said. "I'm sad that it's over but that happens, things come to an end eventually. Personally, I think my career was a lot of fun and I did the best I could all five years I played."

Golini joined the team as a seventh grader. That first season - 2012-'13 was also the program's first. Under then head coach Kim Bruff, the team made it to the Division 2 state semi-finals losing to yes, the eventual state champions of Duxbury. Since that season, the program has grown in every aspect.

"We just had half of both of our schools (Tewksbury and Methuen) come to watch this game," she said. "Before (when we first started) we were stuck in a box for a locker room. We didn't even have a locker room. Now we have our own locker room, we just played in the Garden, we have a lot of fans and it's grown tremendously since I started in the seventh grade."

"I think people see our success. The first year alone we made it to the (state) semi-finals and ever since then we have been winning our league every single year. We have a lot of success and I think that draws people in and keeps players here in Tewksbury."

Golini and her 21 teammates were certainly disappointed with the 1-0 loss. But the center who will be off to play at St. Anselm College next year - said it was tough trying to manufacture scoring chances against the two-time state champs.

"I did, I did (think the goal was coming)," she said. "I don't think we got enough shots on net. We really didn't real test her as much as we should have. We tried but they blocked a lot of our shots and we did what we could. I know I personally could have shot more than I did."

"Their defensemen were good. They blocked our shots, we did what we could. We could have shot more and I know I could have shot more. Instead I tried to make that last move which wasn't working in this game. I have to give (Woburn) credit, they played well."

"We did everything that we set out to do besides one thing (to win the state championship). We said from the beginning that we would go to the Garden and we set another goal to win (here) and that's the only thing we didn't do. We accomplished everything else that we set out for ourselves."

She was then asked what she will remember the most about her five year career as a member of the Red Rangers.

"Playing at the Garden. What a way to go out, playing your last game here at the Garden. I can't even be upset about that because I just played my last (high school game) on the Garden Ice," said Golini.
